

I am real dread I pointed that are thought to give it up in this month death it is for young you should not do it. I hope I must be content though I do not like a little of it and I hope to do it I am just as well as can be so do not dread about my health and as there is no need here of much exertion I do not expect that I shall exert myself so much as I have in the past The school is well liked and under good supervision and it is I hope in your District I would like the last one was The school quite respectable as I do not not think any before my will but one I hope that I am not expected apiece of my own before this time but I do not I am just as well as you are yet and was I hope they leave at very large school I hope you will be in the

I meant again I am still employed as "School Master" and I have just the nicest best little school of fifteen scholars that you ever saw I am boarding at my uncle's and presume that I shall not be doing anywhere else much of any I am to teach two months, if every thing had not been so nicely fixed I expect that I should not have obtained permission to teach this fall but I cared and you know that I am a very good hand at that I was fortunate this morning and 1879

I thought that I would commence my letter to you as it was so near Wednesday I am so very sorry that you cannot be at Cherry Grove on Saturday for we are anticipating a very good time. There are to be some eighteen or twenty from the village and Mr. Cook as by virtue of his office. Archie says he will be and he said that he was leaving the blue dress justly and that he would give something in they would see. Now next week Archie goes and the girls are feeling very badly indeed up to and Archie will be for a few days then I think that will be so very long since that they will not know what to do with their school. I feel sorry for them for I doubt not they will be very long since you see my dear that I did take the subject of compensating for the loss in the light of for that I intended to do so. I did not feel very badly about it but I did wish that you had not done it and I do not expect that you will do it again indeed I have no fears Haggie and Judson were down again on Saturday and I hope that I would tell you all about it and that the girls had gone up to Cambridge to spend the afternoon and by being there they were quite well just got ready for a pleasant trip. I will tell you a story of a with a large cake in it to send you to my affection for seeing you and the girls had better than their own when a carriage full of people drove into the camp yard and found sister and sister's face with Maggie and her brother and sister whom we had none of us ever seen jumped out and came in. The were just a little provoked at of course must be smiling and very happy to see them though in our hearts we wished them a thousand miles away. After staying on for a while the boys & and the girls were all sent down to the lake but some who preferred to stay at home and get out of the carriage and knowing it would give her more pleasure to do it that it would give and also that she would do it better than I consented and off I went. The boat was rather rough and waggled as it after they had been out a short time they put back and landed. Maggie and I on the shore, and after wandering about a while we started for the house but Maggie was not much better of her great in the boat for she was so afraid that her darling husband would get drowned that though I used every argument to persuade her to contrary it was exceedingly intelligent for you. She did not seem to care for the rest only for you and acted exceedingly pitifully but they came back all safe and sound about after five or six o'clock which they all passed as if they had not seen anything of the boat for some time she went out in the garden and each carried away a large bouquet these from all the vegetable matter that they could find in their garden about this time the eggs getting dark and their thought of starting which they did not to our great relief about our pleasure was somewhat dampened by the thought of the great pile of that were to be washed and unless we were taking they nearly over our friend Miss Beatrix's code up on back she got off good I took my place forgetting all about the dishes I had a real nice ride which effectually erased all all disagreeable feelings I shall tell you of a net made of wire. It is almost or quite as strong with one of those one - having some wire up in your hair - it is horribly dirty and I cannot remember when I did not think of you and once I was going to tell you of it when we were talking about I can tell you just when it was. It was about Monday morning that you took me to school but then I had not at all of it I thought you and quite made known to the other as now it is seen I have my eye habit all in my mind eye. Would you like to see it? A dark green with a black and black and black velvet case with black plumes and glove and gaiters with heels. There I go do you see and how do you like my attire?

Charming am I not? I can't seem to forget the trout, it must be a shiny black one for I spilled but perfectly consider my eye. I think if the roses had my eyes effect she would as sure things were quite that she will have husband of before before in the morning will them all back again. What think you about it?
