be happy to see you & go you like her and she will be very glad to see you and she will be very glad to see you on your return to day but as I can I must do the next best thing and I have almost with you I can say but I am not as strong yet for it makes me faint to climb stairs even if I am very unwell about it which is very hard for me to be - I remember last night that we could not get around the with my feet in the reading, until the bell rings for the young ladies to assemble for the lesson. I hope read Beecher to us. Oh, when I am sad, she read finely and it was real interesting. I am sorry my Dear - How sweet and secure is my nest that you are afraid you of getting "stomach read" over my letter. I pray till here here to prevent the dreadful catastrophe. Had I better not write any, or only once a month or once in six months? Please tell me and I'll try to please you in some manner - Perhaps a little rhyme would please you, and I am quite sure now that it will remembering how much you always find to admire in my attempts at this and how little to criticize. Now listen Love

Oh! I've a home a precious home And it is mine mine all alone And I love so well That words cannot tell How dear is my own little home
