

Apr. 1881 Metropolitan Hotel -

Washington D.C.

March 28th 67

My Dear Wife:

I have but a moment to write. I have been on the quai vive every moment I have been here. I have got levame all right. It is impossible for me to do anything for the printing. It was too late in the session to get a bill through to that effect. I am now trying mightily to get aid from the Congressional Union Ex. Committee. I may succeed and I may not. If I do not, I should not wonder if I went further north before I came south again. Keogh is with me. Do not be discouraged however sad things may be with you. I think all will be well yet. I do wish you could be here with me, Darling I am really homesick without you, actually homesick tonight to go to see Mr Schenck the Chairman of the Legislatonal Committee.

I have hope of doing some thing there. I do hope and pray that all may be well with us, and I believe the God we try to trust will not desert us.

Goodbye dear
I must go now
A. S. Foy