Dear Mr. Source

My very dear Sir

I have just finished the third of the letters to a King. In my judgment they hit the mark right in the middle. They are vigorous stimulating and as far removed from New England Miss. Stancy ism as any part of the sea that might be reached on the wings of the morning. So on you are a spiritual Warwick. In going to Careful to put these in the hands of our students, And now for the ax though I vow that what I have said is entirely spontaneous, I have come into possession of an unusually good German novel and have a mind to translate

it. It is Der Hinger-Pastor by Wm. Raabe, and I think has not been translated.
Suppose I make a good job of it what about finding a publisher? Would that probably be a difficult matter? And will you give me again the name of the firm from whom you obtain your paper for ms? Very truly yours W.C. McClall and
