My dear Sir:

In connection with the study of literature, I would like to ask you if you would be so kind as to write me the names of a few of whom you regard as successful growing writers of this country today.

In order that you may be brief, I will limit the names to those of fiction (or general) writers of a high class, and who are likely to rank high in the future. It is in connection with some thought and discussion as to who will be some of the successful literary characters of the future that I write this, and if it is not too much of an intrusion on your time, I would be pleased to hear from you.

Very Truly Yours,
H. T. Bailey.
