

Dansville, N. Y., 19 Nov. 1887

Dear Mr. Bourque

I have found just two copies of The Advertiser of the date you wish & send them, together with two other copies of it which you will find another article by the Judge, & a sketch of our Sanatorium Rev. D. V. White of Brooklyn, who gave us a Republican speech one evening, read the Judge's golden letter through to interested listeners in my office. The "Deacon" as he is familiarly known on Wall st., came never making his knee tender by slapping it during the reading, than he ever did by kneeling in prayer with church, of which he is a pillar. He could hardly find words to express his thorough admiration of the letter.

I wish that you &
the Judge could come here this winter. In what section will the Judge lecture this season?

With kindest regards, I am

Truly Yrs

A. O. Russell
