CABLE ADDRESS,
Nixon, Newyork.

April 11th, 1887.

My Dear Judge,

Yours of no date is recd and I shall send you today by reg mail the copy of claims as requested.

I also send you a statement of the result of the lecture, and will say that I have carried this in my pocket since the Monday eve after the lecture hoping that some of the members of the Ex. Com of the Choral Society would be man enough to get up and make a motion before the committee to vote that they give you all of the profit of the entertainment instead of half. They have not done so and I dont think they will. Of course it would come with a bad grace for me to make such a motion, as at once some one would say Nixon's doing this for his friend.

I only regret Judge that I was in any way instrumental in inducing you to come and can say for the Cherals that they did all they could to make it a success.

How are you feeling these days, all right again?

Yrs Hastily,

Ed Nixon
