GEORGE L. LEWIS ADELBERT MOOT.

June 27 '87,

My dear Mrs. Touger,

Mr. Matthews has returned from the West and tells me this morning that he wishes to see the Judge about the book. Mr. Matthews feels dissatisfied. While he does not think the Judge intended to do anything but fill the contract, yet he thinks he has failed to fulfill the contract.

The printer is now pressing him for money for a book not printed, ^{per} written, in which he has already invested much money. I have not troubled you about his complaints heretofore, but I cannot keep him still any longer. Let this trouble you as little as possible, but give order out, this mixed situation if you can. What and whom can Mr. Matthews see the Judge with but wish to you all, especially you and the Judge, really your friend, Moot
