

Home
Sept 8 1887.

Dear Madam

Many thanks for your note of yesterday containing acknowledgments of the Judge Smith.

If I have seen it yesterday I would have mentioned professional business today and been with the Judge otherwise promising.

I wrote him by telegraph (the first of the British Firm) to-day, and sent it to the Firm. I desire his judgment upon the article in Fraser's (sent at some time) headed "The Coming Man".

I saw the envelope containing your letter but you may see that while it was waiting the 7th it did not reach the office here until the 8th. I am

Yours faithfully
Mrs Emma Donaghy
London