My dear Friend;—

Very many thanks
for your sweet expres-
-sions of friendship,
and the kind thought
in writing me so
promptly.

I feel sure that our late silence has not been indicative
of forgetfulness or

either side and that many an interchange of thought has occurred, tho' the pen has been silent. On leaving New York two years ago I sent you our photos and cards — from that time, I have heard nothing of you until our return, ^(your letter was lost with others) He arrived on the 25th of July — came immediately to Washington for my husband to present his credentials to the President, remained here one week and then started to find a cool spot which he sought between the country and sea shore; — passed several weeks in Phila^a — saw the "Centennial", which was certainly a fine success.

But I have had three weeks of real hard work, - Shopping and
inventing costumes
and the result of this - fell into the hands of two dress-
makers, - bad enough
to be the victim of one, but two was
S. E. Killian!

Well, I have finished with this for a short time and now

gratulate and helping to bear gratitude to you again I intend to enjoy a business of all clear
I wish to say if it is through the Medium
He has a suite
of apartments at the Pegge House, at the Winter and I shall soon buy myself

order - to make things look as home-like as possible. I am so happy to be at home once more - and more so, with the honor conferred upon my husband, I expect to enjoy my life this winter for Washington is a charming place - and I have some sweet relations here.

If we do not meet before next summer - then, I will tell you all about it - for it will give us much pleasure to spend a week with you, at the time indicated and I appreciate your timely write and be assured I shall not forget it.

Perhaps you will take a Southern trip

This winter! If so,
Don't fail to stop
in Washington.

The little Summer
"vists" of the Judge, Miss Lodie - your cousin & the Hammock
is really very cute.

How Miss Lodie has changed! I should not know her.

The Judge looks very natural. Horacio's friends are in love and thank for your kind ones
