CABLE ADDRESS,

Nixon, Newyork.

Oct. 5, 87.

Dear Judge,

Enclosed you will find copy of the bill I paid Waterbury Brass Co for Eyelets or as they call them, escutcheons, which I send you today by Am. Ex.

I wrote you about the 21st of Sep in reply to yours of 19th and told you what I had found out about the machine or tool for setting these things, and have heard nothing from you since.

In your last you said you intended making a trial of the forward draft harness. How did it go?

I hope it fully realized your most sanguine expectations.

Anything that I can do for you let me know.

Hastily,

Ed. H. Nixon.
