

NEW YORK,

Dec 20 1890

Dear Judge,

Wlad you like the book. I will see to the "touching" blunders and also to the style of list, before printing again. Certainly, the "touch in" does not make absolute nonsense, only a kind of effect of affectation of style.

I have sent books to E. H. Hale, ^{Schuyler} Gegg, Vincent, Swing, Gustavus, Rankin, Gease, Pentecost, No. Dixie, Hailan, Frye, Lew Wallace, & L. A. Abbott. How we shall see what we shall see.
Also I sent one to A. W.
Bradford, our Unitarian

Chrysostomist - a man of great influence, widely known in the denomination, & a driving humanitarian (not in the old theological but the modern sense, of practical.)

I sent you the 2d. copy. I had patched up a lovely thing with extracts from your type written letter await the return proof; but after a few days rec'd a very humble letter from the printer saying that he had mislaid the type written "inserts" & could not find them high or low. So I sailed in and added more, recalling the points made so well as I could but put them differently. I think it reads

Well, now, it has some excellently quotable phrases in it, here & there.

A line from Miss Timée Comments the letter of the book, wh. I had sent her. It meets admiration on all sides, as both hand some, striking, & in good taste - a difficult combination.

Faithfully,
Cory,

PH

If you see any bad blunders make a note of them as you go along, & I'll have them straightened out.
