My dear Judge:-

Your <sup>first</sup> letter to me was mislaid in some way, so that it did not come to my hands <sup>until after</sup> I returned from the Court of Appeals late Friday night, <sup>Feb</sup> March 27th. I could not have met you at the Mansion House, however, as I started for the Court of Appeals Sunday, in order to be there to argue a case Monday morning early; and I was kept there by other cases until Friday.

I have just examined your argument in the Fleming matter, and I must say it is a very satisfactory one to me. I almost hate to mar it by referring to some of our weak decisions to support it. To support such an argument with the opinions of some of our courts is like your "eye". I shall not hurry the matter, although it could be heard in April; that is, I shall not hurry it unless you wish me to hurry it.

We are well. We are also glad to note that your last book seems to be very successful. With regards and well wishes to you and your family,

Sincerely,

Adolph Moot
