My dear Mr. Tourgée:-

Your kind favor of March 7th, 1891, is at hand.

You present a forcible and fearless plea in behalf of the cause of freedom in medical matters, and consequently you score a strong point in behalf of the cause of humanity. I wish to thank you most earnestly for your letter. I shall endeavor to use it to the best possible advantage, and may take the liberty of turning out half a million copies through the New York daily press.

With renewed assurances,

I am, faithfully and sincerely yours,

Selden H. Galcott.

P.S. We shall ask the editor to put your name on the complimentary list, and we hope you will hereafter receive the "Conglomerate" regularly.
