Mr. Albert H. Long

Dear Sir,

I have read Man and Beast through with great interest & pleasure. You are trying to solve a vast question, rather than many. While I can hardly say you have fully solved it, you are approaching it on the right side, by your laying down the imperatives of society, & the comparative insensibility of the Conch & her obligations, you have made a powerful contribution to the needed literature of the deep. I hope for the book the large sale which it merits.

Our Convention will be held May 5 & 6. Prof. Newman has promised to be with us, & Sims & McLeod have also agreed to be present. Please inform me your subject that I may be able to make out the programme as soon as convenient.

Yours truly,

W. W. W. W.
