Dear Judge Tanager:-

The temptation to address you as "Col." is very strong, from having so long associated you with the brow of the Fort's Command and let that be my excuse for addressing you so familiarly.

Remember you, a democratic period written by a democrat, and let that be its apology, should you deem me unnecessary. I've read most of your books and when word came that you were to be with us in Detroit to, quote H. Farnsworth, I mean I had a spasm.

I have heard all the speeches at every banquet and I say in all honesty I have never been so completely carried away as I was by you. It was superb. Senator Palmer, the most man in Michigan, who would, to judge Bourgie's quote in an introduction, was absent from the banquet, but I hope some day to see you together.

 With many kind wishes for your good health.

Remain
 Sincerely yours
