

J. M. SMITH.

H. B. FARWELL.

GEO. C. MADISON.

SMITH & FARWELL,

Secy
H. P. S. Club

FURNITURE AND CARPETS,

339, 341 & 343 E. 7th St.

FURNITURE,
CARPETS, DRAPERIES, SHADES.

St. Paul, Ch 30, 1897

A. W. Bourgeois Esq.

I have read several of your books with interest, but none more so, than Murvale Eastman, but as I am a believer after long careful study in the Single Tax principles as of far more immediate practical & practicable plan than any other, & one that must be the forerunner of any very important move towards a better condition of affairs in the social & industrial world, I earnestly urge you to thoroughly & in an unprejudiced manner to study those principles, and let your next work in literary line have those principles for their foundation. I make this request for many besides myself. Yours very truly Geo C Madison ^{Secy}