POSTMASTER.

Raleigh, N. C., May 20 1892.

Dear Judge.

Have you heard anything from the Herring? If not I must try to get them from S. City - though Capchuck promised to send them to you. Will write him tonight.

I got a big disgust from something in N^o 18 of the Ledger - from which I thought N^o 19 was the last of your very delightful story. I see by N^o 19, that N^o 18 was only the end of Part 1. What a labyrinth you have got everybody into, to be sure. After that adlogery of Barclay's I think you better drop the "Simple minded" thing.

By the way, did n't you make a slip in the heat and excitement of the race in N^o 18? Who ever heard of a horse, while trotting, rise to a trap, - our Dan Marvin, or anything else?

Hastily yours.

A. W. Shaffer
