THE COTTON PICKERS' LEAGUE

If, as Humphrey says, the organization numbers a million negroes, being practically identical with the colored farmers' alliance, it is only a question of time for the Republican leaders of the North to proceed to construct of it another political machine to worry and harass the Southern Democracy, and if possible, carry a couple of the more Senegambian States in 1892. Such an opportunity of handling a mass of stupid, ignorant cornfield blacks is not going to be slighted by the unscrupulous managers of the Republican party. We may expect before next June to see indications of the manipulation of Boss Quay, and men of his ilk. Prefer and Macaulé needn't try their hands

THE GEORGIA

A Grand Army Kick.
The proposed pavilion for the "Blue and the Gray" at the world's fair meets with vigorous opposition from the Grand Army of the Republic.

Recently the Brooklyn Harry Lee Post resolved to rule out all federal veterans who fraternized "with organizations that display the rebel flag." The Walters Post at Cold Spring Harbor, L. I., has passed the following resolution:

This post bears no personal enmity against the men who fought to destroy and disrupt this country, but we believe that our cause was just and as holy as theirs was unjust and unholy, and that the rising generation should not be led to believe that the brave men whom we fought so hard to conquer had a cause deserving of honors in any form, and that the proposed pavilion for the "Blue and the Gray" would make treason seem respectable and leave a doubt if both sides had not some show of right, a suggestion that is utterly abhor.

Similar expressions of opinion from other sources make it very plain that the Grand Army will make a determined kick against any scheme to bring the Blue and the Gray together on terms of fraternity at the world's fair or anywhere else.

It is well to make a note of these little matters. The ex-confederates are not specially interested in the proposed reunion, but they like to know what is said about it in the country at large.

QUAY is trying to pull through in Pennsylvania by clinging to the tail end of the Blaine boom.
