Hon. A. W. Tourgee,
Mayville, N. Y.

Dear Judge:--

Yours at hand. On examination you will find that I have allowed full value for type matter which has stood over. It has been our aim from the start to save expense to you wherever possible. We can prove this in a score of instances. For example: When you sent up the copy for the "Palace of Lazar" we had it put in type by a careful book compositor. We then read it and revised it until we had it exactly like the copy. We received back from you this, as we supposed perfect proof, completely riddled. It took an extra man nearly half a day to make the corrections, but we entered no charge against you for it, and we believe the self-respecting offices are few and far between who would have acted likewise. I cite this only to show you that we are saving you extras in every way possible.

Yours very truly,

A. D. McChesney
