

Soldiers of the War of 1812
From Elial Todd Foote Papers
Vol. 7; pages 37-70

In 1852, Elial Todd Foote, noted Jamestown and Chautauqua County historian received permission from President Fillmore and the Secretary of War to examine and make a copy of the officers and soldiers of the eight companies representing the newly formed Chautauqua County.

Foote remarked that the original lists were difficult to read. In fact Foote's transcriptions are also difficult to interpret. An effort has been made to be as accurate as possible. Brackets [ ] indicate information supplied by the editor. Often this is a name difficult to decipher in Foote's original handwriting.

There may be additional records at the National Archives, such as pay master lists, correspondence, and pension records. More research is needed.

Completed and placed on Chautauqua County Historical Society's Website, Dec. 2012. Facilitated by Abby Cardy, Jack Ericson, and Sharon Howe.

It will be seen that nearly all the deserters were in the company of _____ 1813-1814. When the soldiers had nothing to do, had no quarters or tents or comfortable rations & at inclement season and then went home boldly with the knowledge of the officers, without oppositions, although with their consent.
