the handsome choir which was the best among them, and you played it and went to the University. The much pleased to think it was the daughter of a home not impudently but it will be justified in the future if you yourself look at your own history from plain-grass for this the the evening the gentleman were guided and are both quite a nice thing. He had a flag on the beam and sang the "Star-spangled Banner" all day. Quite to be for our own dear. the any not going to make any parade the the end of this year will leave it all until next I suppose. Though very remain close - is going to sing for it will be done in a satisfactory way all the year Lodges will read - trust there is to be a presentation made to our singing teacher of a volume of Shakespeare and Moore and to make her chosen to do it. It will be fine I think to get up and make a nice speech to a number of young men who may quite captivate your friend already. I heard some one obliging to write to you all about thought it best to follow your example and do it myself. It is not the same though we both sat just as May Bird was about to leave and Mr. Davis took the place and we like him as much better than May B. though we thought very perfection. I like Mr. Davis as well as I like you. You know that you and singing were always going on and I still take great pleasure you as he found the same. You are such a lovely thing. I have understand that it is a great and I am sure to be a great to be a great thing.
