Miss E. L. Kilborn
Kingsville Ohio

My Dear Friend
I have just received a letter from Albion dated at Atlanta Georgia. He wishes me to communicate its contents to you.

I would send you the letter but I wish to copy it for the Reporter if they see fit to publish it. If they do not I will send it to you. He is well thinks he shall keep up your courage has been treated well thus far and has hopes something will yet turn up favorable.

As for myself

I have but little fears for his personal safety. As I have not the least idea of Davis dare enforce his Bombastic Declamation in a solitary instance And I do not suppose even he is in ~~that~~ great personal danger as he would be in active service

But I had much rather accept the dangers of that service than to have him in their hellish clutches. But I do not despair but it may all come out right in the end. I expected him to meet the liabilities and dangers of the service And expect to make whatever sacrifices, ^{and be} ~~remained~~ of me with firm reliance on an Overruling Providence

With the kindest regards I remain Yours Respectfully Valentin Tourgen
