

Constitutional Convention of North-Carolina,

Raleigh, January 27th 1868.

My dear wife:

Your letter was most gladly received this morning. I am glad you are so comfortably harbored with the girls. I will gladly assent to any proposition you may make in regard to the matter at the school.

My head is not very clear now, as I have a very bad cold, and have to keep both eyes and ears to catch the proceedings of the Convention. Just do what you think best and I will say "aye" heartily. I will say that it is not probable that I shall be at home for any length of time until after the election for ratification and the state officers and Congressional representatives. I send you

$10.00 - Jan. 24th - Yours Heartily
