

50 Rodgers Row,
Annapolis, Md.
April 12th 06.

My dear Mrs. Lougèe,

In a letter from
my sister, just-received,
she tells me that you have invitations for the Paul Jones ceremonies, and would like to come.

We shall be very glad to have you and your daughter come to us for the day and night, and shall have plenty of room to include you in our party.

Mr. Pauls says he thinks there are no reserved seats, except for the French guests and dignitaries, if there are, we have not heard of them.

I wish I might include Mrs. Stowers in the invitation, but Mrs. Paul can only take three tickets on his ticket - (myself - my sister, and his sister) and the premium for tickets is so great, that it will not be possible to obtain extra ones.

I am glad you and your daughter can come. With kindest regards to you both. Augustus Henry Paul.
