My dear McTourjee:

Upon returning from a meeting of the National Educational Association at Chicago, whether I went on Washington's birthday, I find your favor of the 18th ultimo.

I have discussed a new edition of the Judges books with McClurg & Co Chicago & with A. L. Burt Newyork who is republishing cheap editions of standard books, but nothing very promising has yet come from it. Burt says he

& two weeks stay at Atlantic City.

I am going home to find out how the family is. Stopped in Buffalo to visit Abby's family over Sunday & found them thriving.

The latest Lyon Mr Howard just received, talks of a trip to Florence & Rome before returning to America.

Did you see the Evening Post, N.York of Jan 4th "My" birth day, commenting on the Judge's literary style in his consular reports? It is very nice & the more to be valued since that paper so seldom approves of anybody — Sincerely Yours will take it up with his customers.

The Baker & Taylor Co. have turned down the proposition once. You might prod them again & see what they say.

If they really seem inclined to take the matter up — then you could come this way & see them en route to Washington.
