

July 25, 1907.

My dear Mrs. Tourgee:

I have received the various communications, certificates of stock, etc, sent me by Mr. Kirkpatrick and yourself, and as soon as I can find the time I will make a study of the matter and let you know the result.

While Mr. Kirkpatrick's idea as how to proceed would reach the desired end, yet it seems to me that it is unnecessarily laborious and expensive. Without further investigation I am of the opinion that the Crew Levick Co. should transfer the stock to the Executor of your husband if he left a will, or to the one to whom he bequeathed the same; if he died intestate then the stock should be transferred by that Co. to the administrator of your husband. However I will give the matter more careful consideration. In the meantime please let me know if your husband left a will, and whether letters of administration have been issued in his estate.

With kindest regards and best wishes for yourself and daughter
I am

Most Sincerely Yours,

E. P. Gould
