Wednesday p.m.

Messrs C. G. Sloan & Co.,

Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen:

I cannot understand this bill, forwarded me from Washington. From the date, it would seem that you put the chair into the sale in progress the day it was taken from 2015 Kalorama Road.

You distinctly advised me not to put it in that sale as things were not selling well, but to wait until a later sale when it could be catalogued and exhibited and bring a price adequate to its worth. If notwithstanding this advise, to which I most readily agreed, you put it in that afternoon, I do not think you should put in a bill of commissions. I do not expect to be in the city again, but my friend Mrs J. R. Warner, who is now at 934 "T" Street, will call and see you and have the chair put in again when it will have a better chance.

It is something unique,--I am sure there is not another like it in the city--and is especially a man's chair--a lovely Christmas present for a gentleman. Please do the best you can for me, and report to Mrs Warner whose address is given above. Send her a Catalog when it is sold again, and I would like one, too, here. I will enclose the description again.

Very truly yours,
