Dear Mrs Donoghue:

Yours of the 4th is forwarded to me here, where Mrs H. and I are visiting our daughter, four little granddaughters, and the newly arrived grandson.

About the "Pacific Idyl" I will have a looking up when I get back to the vicinity of New York. The story itself I remember well, but such a multiplicity of events have intervened since it came that I do not at this moment recall what I did with it. If you will let me know about when it was sent me, that will serve as a guide. It may be in the safe (still in McHale's office) or may have been sent out and not returned.

In the latter case, the date should help me to find some letter of transmission, & I will make diligent search.

With kind regards to Miss Annie, and thanks for your inquiries about our family folk, all of whom are well & reasonably happy, I am,

Yours sincerely,
J. R. Howard
