Mr. Emma K. Bourque

Dear Mr. Bourque

I am in receipt of yours of the 4th inst which should have been answered before this.

I do not think I can accomplish anything with Mr. Bon-key. He lives at Hammond Indiana where his establishment is located. I very seldom see him. I think he is somewhat stubborn and will ^{not} believe give up any thing unless he is compelled to do so. My impression ^{is} that you will have to ^{put} the whole matter in the hands of an Attorney before any thing can be gotten out of him - Hammond is quite a place but I know none of the attorneys there - Your legal adviser can undoubtedly secure the name of a reliable lawyer - I seldom advise any one to go to law but in this case it seems the only way that you are likely to secure anything from Mr. Conkey - It is my impression is that he would prefer to drop out of the courts and ^{if} he finds that you have secured an attorney and be ~~is~~ ^{is} about to bring suit he would come to terms & settle the matter out of court - He is certainly liable under the law - With best wishes

Very Truly Yours

Wm Penn Dixon

Please excuse this hasty scrawl but I have not so much time
