Dear Mrs. Tourjee

A most pleasant
memory of a delightful
dinner and a season
of refreshing conversation at Shorham brightens the Leur-Cottage at this time.
Nothing was lacking.
Yes - the King was noblest in life. Your husband would profit a noble work. Let us cherish the hope of reunion. Greeting to your gifted daughter and to your Sister.

Your faithful

fills the house and "the dead", as "we call them,
are not so far away
from those of us who account ourselves the
"living". And alas,
how many of the
"living" are "dead" to all that is highest and
