

Tredonia, Sept. 24, 1888.

Mrs. Tourgee:

I send you eight hundred cucumbers today by express I hope they will be all right, they are not as nice as they would have been earlier you came near being too late.

I inclose your letter so you can easily see why I thought the express would be as much as the cucumbers you stated dozen instead of hundred.

I guess we have it all right now.

Thanks for the order.

Yours Truly

H. J. Porter
