

Hornell N.Y., Dec 11, 1908.

My Dear Mrs Loring

I thank you for your letter, for the newspaper article and newspaper "photo" of yourself - and very much for the kind invitation to visit - you in the summer when the days are fair - for the sake of the warm friendship that - lasted to the end I should like to know you and visit with you - but the days of the present find me a partial invalid - The stanza was a wish of Loring's to Tuttle for a sweetheart.

"As loving, and as true as - mine
I cannot wish ye mine."

The College days have been a delight to me - for in those days we were taught to teach others - hence the sweet wish of Ro College friends -

Washington Irving is not the only man who has worshipped a memory forty years -

Yours Sincerely
