New York City.

Dear Sir:-

We beg to return herewith your copy of "The Peck's Errand", and to say that we cannot persuade ourselves that the book can be revived after all these years. The new generation of readers make not Tourgée; and the small forbidding type makes it a bad book for our "Copyrights" line, and its length precludes its use in the cheaper series.

Thanking you for its kind offer, and regretting it has taken us so long to reach a decision, we are

Yours truly,

Grosset & Dunlap
W.C.

P.S.- Mr. F. H. Johnson of Brooklyn, asked us to use it in connection with the Fixon books, which we have just taken over.
