July 8th 1913

Dear Mrs. Georgie —
Little Hugh Aimee went from home on his first visit, and I am sending you the letter I have had about him.
He has started school and told us the boys seem amused at his name Aimee, so spatium. Oh it was a school of trouble & a shock to us both, but he was so brave over it all, but they did not let me see him for the years, & now he is home again, The Dr. gave him a clean bill but ordered him to give up the city but this he won't do, he says he would sooner only live a few years & know his children were provided.

Dada told him about the dear good young Cady who was called Alice and he seems now quite proud about it:
we often think of you & I nearly write but don't like to - I too have had trouble my dear husband had to go up to Nordrach, Germany for nearly one year, he had three bad hemorrhages again, & they found Tubercle bacilli in the

for they live years & feel he might leave them to the mercy of the world, he lives in his motor when not at work & seems so far well Some day we may come your way, we have nearly done all there is to do here but that must be when he takes longer than a miracle two weeks holiday.

Like a proud mother I want you to read what is said of little Hugh Aimee, might I have a picture of you to show him someday!!

Yours sincerely
