[illegible] to whom shipments were sales this might be done but not by an agent - You assume no liability and do not work. You are simply an agent who only hired us within the scope of your authority. We have never given you such authority & never shall. If you are dissatisfied with the terms of your agency you can relinquish it - We are ready to make a fair settlement with you at any time - but we are not willing that you should have beyond the limits or make our name a cover for your trade with others - If you wish to deal with us as a factor you can do so upon settling up your agency - But if you wish to hang off & quarrel all the time & end our relations in a big row you have it in your power to bring that about - If we are going to break up we would rather do it amicably but you seem
