Thursday 3. P. M.

My dear Husband,

I send you enclosed a letter from your father rec'd this morning. Altho my other affliction, I have such a stiff neck today I can hardly move my head, and have considered, most unfortunately that you were not here to laugh at me. Being so out of sorts I have employed some spare time in finishing my copy book, having in manuscript one volume on Sunday.

I feel very much obliged that you sent her my love in your letter this morning and said I must say to Papa when I write "had he forgotten his little girl?"

Yours
W. Raleigh
