

and we might find out what an yesterday to and we'll give a full account of the campaign time of the Convention but in a word as to the the record which you will see in the News is undoubtedly correct and I think you will remember it when the News is in circulation by the time the day after the above was and received the nomination - the record of the convention and I think the same from the publications of a prominent member of the party. It is emphatically a national nomination from both sides. After thirteen bulletins, proving that we could not be elected except by his own vote he arose and after giving the Convention an ill-structured address very far refusing to vote for him he took his bullet for himself - It is the first time in the history of this state that any member of a legislative body has been guilty of such a gross impropriety. It is not known whether his personal apologies will attract his shocking lack of courtesy to his being a complete stranger from his place or not, there are some precedents for such a course, but they are not of a character as honorable man would desire to follow. ^{Reason} Burr elected himself vice President while he was the nominee of a party - I am with that in some things and had any so hardly considered that it is doubtful he would do with his subsequent picture in political life and final disgrace and ruin - Callcott of New York, when the party were split by divided in the same house of the imitation, sold out to the Democrats and two years ago, I was sent to the Senate, which of these illustrations example Rum will follow it is impossible to determine - If the memorial emblem with which he is regarded by his present but follows has any effect as a satire so all our soul debarred as his seems to be, we may well look for him to go out, sure being himself some day in imitation of his most illustrious exemplar - Judas Iscariot - Upon taking the Chair it was amusing - if it had not been ridiculous to hear him return his "Grateful thanks, for the office & which he had elected himself! It was amusing too to see such an as Richd Clingman Bennett and others, applauding the request with their hands while the Jews expressed such unmistakable disgust -

In his attempt to administer his his office today, he has shown his utter incompetence for the position. Some are willing to be stung by his conduct to keep him brought and even then he would more than gladly it would seem possible for any one to compare under will that no motion to adjourn shall be in order except upon one day's notice and they not till after 12 o'clock.

They will appoint a Committee on every Article of the Constitution and go into a complete revision of the instrument - There is no doubt it will sit for a long time - The Republican policy will be to let them go on and hang themselves as fast as they can -

Thine course is sure to show the people that the views of the Rep: party in regard to its danger are well founded - Tell King that he should strain every nerve to have a daily paper here during the Convention in order that our country have a record of what is done &c. & shall call a caucus in the evening tomorrow -

Yours Truly
