My dear wife:

I have a few minutes before the train and write to tell you that I love you. You may get this before I reach home as you may not but I cannot bear to withhold this information from you a minute longer than I can avoid doing.

I find I can get into N. Y. from Stamford about 12 o' - If I could reach there twenty minutes earlier I could get home tomorrow night. As it is I am afraid it will be Saturday morning before I arrive.

God bless you

Albion
