Dear Mrs. Janney

Your kind letter came, with copy of "The Veteran and his Pipe", at a time when I was ill and confined to the house. Hattie and Maie were in Western N. Y. and Kattie was stopping at Ball's. Hattie & Maie came home about ten days ago. I am now about able to get out, and we are all settled down once more. Accept thanks for both the Vet. & letter to a King. They are good reading. There is very entertaining matter in the Veteran - I can not read it with great interest. It shows a thorough and practical knowledge of the situation here.

We are glad to hear you are all well. Hattie says she thought you owed her a letter - but she will write you. She sends much love -

Greensboro is improving and is being improved greatly. Gas, water, electric lights, paved sidewalks both sides of street from depot to the Court house. Sewer in centre of street, and street from depot to C. H. paved with Belgian blocks. Are among the changes. Don't this sound big. Death has taken off many of the old citizens. Mrs. Sattle is an applicant for the post office in opposition to White

It is not well received by the Republicans, and it is very doubtful about her success. The feeling is that the family have had about their fair share. Doug is now at West Point, and Tom is Solicitor.

The state is full of hungry office-seekers. The principle cry is that "compet-buggers" must be "eliminated" from republican politics, before anything can be done. This means Shaffer and me. Mott put that in a card a few weeks ago.

The weather so far has been as the ladies say "just too lovely for anything." Seldom reaches freezing. Average about 50° (Don't think I am a meteorologist)

We all wish to be remembered to the Judge and Lodi.

Yours truly
Thomas B. Keogh
