Dear Madam; We note that the copyright forwarded by you is dated '86. It appears that title page was subsequently issued. If there has been any change in the title page, it will be necessary to have a new copyright covering the present title page. It is also necessary to forward 2 copies of the book.

We await further information before taking action, with the suggestion that perhaps, as the copyright appears to be in question it would be better to make application for a new copyright, as the book was issued about two years after the copyright above referred to was issued; and as we understand it, that copyright refers to the letters only. as published in papers.

Yours Truly,

Cranston & Stowe.
