

UNITED STATES SENATE,

PRESS GALLERY,

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Jul 4, 1889.

My dear Mr Tuggle:

This is what I have accomplished, after more or less hying. A small pseudo or family hotel (the Langham) is situated on the corner of 14th and H. Street N. W. The proprietor has secured one very handsome large room a half a block away for you and Lodie. Meals - nothing elaborate but enough to sustain life - will be furnished at the Hotel The price for room and meals for three days or five is $50.- Steep indeed - but cheap in comparison to other quotations. Let me know, please, if you will be satisfied with all this. I have conditionally clinched the bargain in the belief that you will be.

I have tried to write you before but it was only this morning that my efforts resulted in anything satisfactory -

Kindly say to the Judge when you write that I would be very glad to have the suggested interview for use in "O'Brien - Dan" Gossick at his convenience -

I called on Madame Guzman for the first time on Tuesday ~~night~~ ^{last} -

It has occurred to me that you and Lodie and I might go to the ball together and that during the time that I must be away, her sheltering arm might be sought -

If possible I will see you in Phila. before the end of the month -

As ever faithfully.

Frank.
