

Judge Tourgee's Prediction.

[Danville Times.]

Judge A. W. Tourgee, soon after the close of the war, predicted that "within thirty years popular sympathy will be with those who upheld the Confederate cause; our popular heroes will be Confederate leaders; our fiction will be Southern in its prevailing types and distinctly Southern in its character." He says, his "prediction is already almost literally fulfilled," and he has a long article in the Forum for December, to show it.

EDWARDS & WORTHAM,

ATTORNEYS-AT-LAW,

WILL PRACTICE IN ALL THE COURTS. COLLECTIONS MADE THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

Henderson, N. C., July 4 1889.

Dear Judge:

Referring to the enclosed clipping I trust you to send me the article referred to, if you have it. I would also like so much to have the seed books you are the author of "Pick withered Straws". I have not had it any amount, as were all my other books, and am not able to replace them. Could you give them to me. You may have forgiveness ^{me} for, but I trust you while you attend Grassville book.
In the young book you used to much about Col.
Wortham's room, with one sq. I often think of you and wonder how you find the many articles, I have friends you all. I shall never forget one expression you made in making a motion in the case of Keggie vs Building & Loan Assn.

This old case is yet on the docket and Court is in session at Oxford this week. Col. Geo. Wortham as you may know, is dead.
With kind regards from

Very truly yours
A. R. Wortham
