Dear Emma

Your note of Thursday was recd. last evening. The Judge sent you the Forum check which you have recd. no doubt by this time. I told him about your wishes and he said he would send you that
and see you before coming back after the present tour and give you more, so avoid the exchange. I enclose a memorandum of the deposits and the checks drawn. Mallick, or rather Cotton brought his bill and the judge said to send them a check for it which I did. He also said to pay Mr Brayman twenty and Dr. Chace forty which I have done.

He paid the taxes fifty and fifty on the Oxyg note in cash. I gave him five of that I had drawn when he went away.

If you are not going to draw on the bank how any more
please send me your acct. for I don't want to overdraw, and as it is am in the dark as to
amt. in bank now.

I have left feeling very well yesterday morning at five. The weather is so give I hope he is going to feel better and that too he did not start off with a lame back. I think that was the trouble before. He pulled his trunk out to the road all himself, and you know how anything of that kind affects him.

Did you get your silk dress to suit? I hope you took off that fine lace I always thought the combination a mistake. I have had nothing at all done in the way of dressmaking. I am trying to get Miss Symour to help me on the black cashmere that was dyed but she is away and so far has done nothing. I think I can have something done to my blanket too pusher it come. Dont you wear any buckle at all, and how many needles, and how far from the top is the first?

I am awfully shabby and must do something. Thanks for the blue pattern, I can make something of it I am sure. Miss Rider is still here but she does not go away from home, and it is such a long walk over bad roads. I cannot go there. I think Miss Keber can better come here She would get all the work she could do if she wanted to come. Mother keeps well and sends love to you both Affectionately
Mildred
