

Mayville N. Y.

April, 10th 1889

My dear wife:

I send you the back of the Libbincott stories.
It has not yet a tail but I will provide one in time. I think I have done a big thing in working off these three stories in the time I have been here. How does it impress you? I have just read the proof of the 1st. & but can not look at it before Sunday, I am so terribly driven with what I have to do.

There was no letter from you yesterday. I suppose you were late in writing. Hadn't you better write your letters in the morning? Of course, I would rather have a hurried pro forma ~~to~~ letter than none but it is not quite the same as if you had to write all day.

However, I don't want to explain.

Yours
