Dear Judge:

I haven't need to write as I have not heard from all the parties to whom I have written,
I wrote to the Manitowlin people & ought to have heard by this time I think, though I don't know how the mail runs there.

I enclose a letter from Randall at Mills, Maine.

I wrote to the Douch Pond ^{Maine} people but haven't heard from them yet.

I don't know where you can find solitude & seclusion if not in Maine.

There is a British Island called Grand Manan, at the mouth of Passamaquoddy Bay, an hour's sail from Eastport Me. It seems to me this has all the qualities you require - rocks, trees, the whole Atlantic before you, Beautiful Steamers from Boston to Eastport.

I don't recall now just whom to address about Grand Manan but will think it up.

Perhaps you better write to the Manitowlin man.
The address is, Mr. J. R.
Boardman, North Manitowlin Island, via Leland, Mich.

& came on through after spending a few days at C. I wanted to see you very much but my work was such that I couldn't take the time.

Perhaps will "mech up"
with you this summer.

I am not very well since my return here, work is off my feet but hope to get my innards under control soon. Love to all

Sincerely
J. R. Warner
