

time but I always very much liked him as a fair, industrious and honorable practitioner.

From my knowledge of his character, as a prince = Taking, intelligent, and subordinate and reliable, I should suppose him to be well adapted to the position of "Chief clerk in your Bureau. Of course, I know nothing of special requirements of the position or specific adaptations of the applicant, but I should expect him to be a faithful, conscientious and efficient officer in such a position.

Sincerely Yours

Wm. D. Sawyer