

- 1 "A fascinating winter evening Companion." HOME JOURNAL, Boston.
- 2 "A good book and sure to be widely read." The SUN, NEW YORK.
- 6 "Its perusal will hasten the passage of idle or weary hours."
THE HERALD, Chicago.
- 7 "Undoubtly the most romantic story Judge Tourgee has yet written."
THE JOURNAL, Jamestown, N.Y.

8 "As to the identity of Mr Hazzard, there can hardly be two opinions."
The TRIBUNE, New York.

9 "Not so interminable as Jarndyce vs Jarndyce, yet its flavor is as subtle and the love even more life-like and real."
CHRISTAIN ADVOCATE, New York.

10 "The life of a lawyer's office is pictured with the touch of one thoroughly versed in its affairs." THE ADVANCE, Chicago, ILLS.

12 "Under the touch of the magic fingers of the lawyer-novelist, the infinite gamut of human nature is run to the interest of all who read."
The ADVERTISER, Dansville, N

11 "Judge Tourgee's versatility as a story-teller, never showed to better advantage."
THE WISCONSIN, Milwaukee, Wis.

3 "One of the best books of the season." Republic, Springfield, O

4 "Certainly one of the best from the pen of Judge Tourgee."
The TRAVELLER, Boston.

5 "These stories are all interesting, and of great variety."
Dispatch, Pittsburg. Pa.

13 "The trenchant power of the author's imagination, is equalled by the wisdom with which he has chosen his subjects, and with the effect of a well-drawn complaint, and a powerfully compact argument, he forces his scenes and characters into the reader's mind."
THE INDEPENDENT, New York.