

New York, Feb. 14, 1890

Dear Judge Swayne.

I am in doubt whether you intended to use the word "not" in the following sentence:

"As a theory, the doctrine of federal supremacy stands on the same logical ground as before, unless the double predication of "indestructibility" has not tended to inspire doubt in regard to it."

Will you kindly telegraph me, immediately upon receipt of this,

in regard to the matter,
letting the expense be paid here; and oblige.

Yours very truly,

L. P. Metcalf.
