Hon. Abner<sup>W.</sup> Loring,

Dear Sir: Yesterday I received from the Cassell Publishing Company a copy of your latest work, "Pactolus Prime", sent as the Company informs me at your request.

It is a gratification to be so kindly remembered by you, and I feel like one who has had coals of fire heaped on his head. For by your favor a copy of it was sent to me with a request for my judgment of it, which you never got. I read it partly before some new occupations drove it out of my mind, and then came vacation and then I missed the book. Lately I recalled it and upon inquiring for it learned that one of my boys had taken a fancy to it and carried it off to his college room. Certainly I shall read this one at once, and then I will write to you again.

Respectfully yours, Walter Allen.
